Senior and Junior Pupils Give Pleasing Performances

The closing exercises and entertainments in connection with the Public and High Schools this year were on a more elaborate and generous scale than in any year previous, and packed audiences filled the assembly hall for the three concerts.

The dramatic work showed continued improvement and success, and its extension in all the grades must have a valuable educational influence. It is safe to say that never before had more preparation been made for these events than this year, and the splendid work of the teachers bore full fruit in the programmes which gave great delight and pride to the audiences.

The final rehearsals were open to the school pupils of all grades, while the main entertainments were given for the parents and friends of the school.

The pupils of the primary classes of the central school—Miss Tyler's, Miss Ebert's, Miss Wilson's and Miss Cole's—had their entertainment on Friday afternoon with the following programmes:

Song, "The Fairies," Miss Cole's class; Little Red Riding Hood, Play; Little Red Riding Hood, — Jean Bannerman.

The Wagon—Norman Botterill; The Mother, —Elva Malcolm; The Grandmother, —Marion Bell; The Woodcutter, —Andrew Lund.

Recitation, "Two Little Fir Trees," —Ralph Lord; Chorus, "Icicle Boys," —Miss Ebert's boys.

Duet, "I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard," —Mabel and Myrtle Toiv; "My Thumb," —Donald Russell.

Recitation, "Washing my Doll," —Dora McGill; Sunbeam Duet, —Vera Houston, Ruth Lindsay; Loca Watson, Edna Brazier, Eleanor Gabrielle, Nannie Stephenson, Mabel Toiv, Nannie Skene, Gertrude Johnson, Winnie Alford.

Recitation, "The Lookout Man," —Kay Waller; Recitation, "Rejection," —Leslie Oulton; Song, "Oh Yah! Don't Dot was Fine," —Muriel and Melville Wilson.

Recitation, "Poor Santa Claus," —Katherine Bawinheimer; Fairy Chorus, Miss Wilson's girls; Recitation, "What Grandma Knows," —Ruth Ramsey.

Recitation, "Canadian Born," —MeGregor Parsons; Close at the heels of the boys, James Baird, Fred Mcintosh, Harold Thornhill, Norwood Patke, Glenworth Jones, Miles Pixley, Robert Hogg.

Express, "The Allies," —Edna Hodgson, Adeline Weider, Stella Brazier and Marion Keith.

Chorus, "I Don't Want the Midnight Clear," —Miss Ebert's girls; "God Save the King."

The play and the drills were very pretty. Little Red Riding Hood had a woodland scene with boys for trees and little flower girls. In the drills, the boys and girls were characteristically and daintily dressed, and set off beautifully the theme of the exercise. The choruses and recitations were given in good style, and Muriel and Melville Wilson's song was very taking.

SENIOR PUBLIC SCHOOL
The programme put on by the senior public school pupils—Miss Tate's, Miss Davidson's, Miss Creelman's and Miss Smith's—rooms—brought out some very pretty scenes, the themes being varied and striking and being presented with a wealth of training, costuming and detail which must have entailed a lot of work on the teachers and would prove of great benefit to the boys and girls in teaching them self-possession and self-expression. The minut was a dainty and stately old fashioned dance which was beautifully put on. The boys and girls acquitted themselves admirably in their several characters. The recitations were exceptionally good in their individual numbers, the dialogue.

characterization being excellent.

Plot to Blow Up Big Power Houses is Frustrated

Secret Service Agents Near Plotters Throw Explosives Into The Lake

Pittsburg, Dec. 22.—A plot to blow up the big power houses of the Canadian and United States sides of the Niagara Falls and to destroy the big Michigan Central and Grand Trunk International railway bridges was frustrated last week at Erie, Pa., when the conspirators, alarmed at the closeness of the government's secret service agents, dumped their supply of high explosive into the waters of Lake Erie, off Walkeham Park.

After disposing of the explosives, one of the suspects returned to this city, remaining two hours, and then went to Philadelphia. A few days later he went to New York, where he is now under surveillance. The power houses of the Ontario Power company, the Canadian Niagara Falls Power company, and the Toronto Niagara Power company, on the Canadian side; the New York Hydroelectric Power and Manufacturing company, on the United States side; the Niagara Falls Power company, on the United States side; and the big International railway bridges were marked for destruction, according to the programme mapped out by the conspirators.

"Time Warning of Germany's Intentions," Says Grit Paper

Remarkable Change in Liberal Opinion Compared with 1912

A TERRIBLE RESPONSIBILITY

Under the name of "Well Warned," the Halifax Chronicle, its issue of December 11, quiet length from that infamous General, Von Bernhardi, to that "he gave us timely warning of Germany's intentions, and to expect from her." It is a curious phenomenon, this sudden change of German war warning, the part of the Canadian Lib. press. The book which is the "Well Warned," first published in 1911, more than four years ago, a one year before Germany made a notorious proposal to Lord Haldane, which would have tied Britain's hands in a war of "European" conflict. The book was translated into English, reproduced by the great newspapers in London, and created a great alarm in Britain. It was not entirely unheard of in Canada. We well remember how, when in 1912 the Liberal party was fighting night and day to prevent Canada taking a rightful share in her own and the Empire's defence, when Liberal leaders were sneering at the warnings of a German menace, the writings of Bernhardi in "Germany and the Next Year" were read in the Canadian House of Commons. And curiously enough, one of the passages read, and which can be found in Hansard, is the identical passage quoted now by the Halifax Chronicle.

"The German plan might be formed of anticipating the enemy by a sudden attack, instead of waiting passively for him to attack first, and of opening the war as the Japanese did before Port Arthur. In this way the British Fleet might be

Asquith, eight years ago, the British taxpayer has been burdened to the limit to maintain the superiority of the navy.

THE SECRET MEMORANDUM

In 1912, following Lord Haldane's mission to Berlin, the Asquith Government became absolutely convinced that war was in the nature of only a few years. A secret memorandum setting forth the peril of the situation was prepared. The document was placed in the hands of every responsible statesman in the United Kingdom and in the overseas Dominions. It was shown to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and two members of his former cabinet. Upon it was based the Mother Country's request to Canada for "three of the strongest ships that science can build and money supply." And yet, despite all this, despite Germany's sinister actions, despite Lord Haldane's secret report, and despite the Mother Country's solemn request for aid we find Sir Wilfrid Laurier emerging at the possibility of an emergency and lauding the Kaiser as a friend of peace and a great moral force.

And this to the silly applause of the Halifax Chronicle which now makes the belated discovery that we were "well warned."

A TERRIBLE RESPONSIBILITY

What a terrible responsibility rests upon the shoulders of Canadian Liberal leaders? It is not enough for them to plead that they failed in their mission, that the world misjudged Germany. The day is coming when they will be held to strict accountability by the people. They cannot avoid it. They will not be permitted to take refuge behind the rampart of the dead.

What a contrast, is the present opinion of the "Chronicle" to that taken by the Liberal party in 1912, as shown by the following extracts from Liberal speeches made in the House of Commons in opposition to the Borden Naval Aid Bill.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER, December 12th, 1912—

"This document [the Admiralty memorandum] shows that there is no emergency, that England is in no danger, whether imminent or prospective."

DR. MICHAEL CLARK (Red Deer) December 12th, 1912—

"The fact of the matter is that this German scare has become so attenuated a thing that it only finds a resting place in such comically disordered minds as we have had an example of this afternoon."

December 16th, 1913—

"Just as in the middle of the last century, the French scare passed away without there having been the smallest of gunpowder between the two great nations of France and Great Britain from that time, and as the Russian scare in the seventies passed away likewise without there having been a trigger pulled then or since; so, happily for humanity and civilization the German scare of yesterday is vanishing. I think I shall be able to offer proof from the best possible sources that a generation from now we shall be looking back upon this as another of the human follies and upon the historical fact that following it there was not the firing of a shot by the one or the other of these two great Christian nations."

"The evidence that there is no impending war between these two countries is carried to our very doors."

"There is no emergency."

HON. RODOLPHE LEMIEUX (Renouville), February 11th, 1913—

"To our surprise this year the Government have submitted 'this policy of tribute, acquiescence, forsooth. Nobody in England dreams of an emergency. Nobody here thinks there is an emergency; yet the Government choose to say that an emergency there is, or, rather, that there was one, because since Christmas the much dreaded emergency, like old furniture of the Jacobite period and old Sheffield plate, is relegated to the antiquarian shop."

SIR WILFRID LAURIER, February 27th, 1913—

"I charge upon the Administration, Sir, that they have submitted this measure to us under false pretences, and I do not consider that observation too strong. I charge upon the Administration that they put into the mouth of His Royal Highness the Governor General, assertions which were absolutely unfounded in fact, when they placed in the mouth of the Throne the assertion that a condition of things exists in Great Britain which makes it imperative that the naval forces of the Empire should at once be strengthened. I say there is not the shadow of foundation for such an assertion."

"There is one fact in the situation which I think shows that there is no intention on the part of Germany to attack England, and that fact is the German Emperor. The German Emperor is undoubtedly one of the great men of the present age. By intellect, by character, by moral fibre, he has shown himself wonderfully endowed. In the first five years of his reign some of his utterances sent a shiver through those who had the peace of the world at heart. Many believed that he was perhaps, hankering for the glimmer of military glory. But, as he advanced in years, and as crises after crises came his patient influence was always directed towards peace. And the day may come when, like his illustrious uncle, our late King, he may be called the peace-maker."

ALLIES WITH 200,000 TROOPS AT SALONIKI CAN HOLD BACK FORCE TWO OR THREE TIMES AS GREAT

Paris, Dec. 23.—General Bonnal, a French military expert, examining in the Intrinsigant the situation at Saloniki, mentions the German statement that the French and British forces at that Greek port now number 172,000 officers and men, and are increasing, and says: "The joint army soon will reach 200,000. They are occupying a semi-circle around Saloniki which itself is just beyond range of the heaviest guns—those carrying shells 18 to 23 miles."

"Fifteen days of entrenching have now given the defensive works a certain solidity, so that 200,000 men, with ample food and munitions supplies and reinforcements available by the open sea routes, should be able to resist an army consisting of two or three times their number."

HON. WILLIAM PIGSBY (St. John), March 12th, 1913—

"I say that the ignorance displayed in that memorandum of Canadian conditions and of Canadian people is enough to make a horse laugh."

SIR WILFRID LAURIER, April 7th, 1913—

"I am told that the present policy is an emergency contribution. Emergency! Who can talk about emergency? The very idea of emergency has been by the waste of dissipation, just as the mist of the morning is dissipated by the rays of the rising sun."

"I see the commencement of this debate there have come from Germany, which has been considered the chief source of danger, from no less an authority than the German Secretary of the Navy, words which lead us to believe that at no distant date a stop may be put to this mad folly of armaments, which has been going on for some years past. This is our present condition."

MR. E. M. MACDONALD (Pictou), April 7th, 1913—

"We have the positive certainty, backed by authorities in England, official and non-official, and by all the public press of the Mother Country, that there is no emergency."

MR. F. B. CARVELL (Cardston, N.B.), April 8th, 1913—

"But there are other cogent reasons which might be advanced to show the absolute nonsense of this emergency toll."

"Now, when you consider facts like these, not to mention the hundreds of cruisers, torpedo boat destroyers and submarines that go to make up a fighting force, and compare the British navy with other navies of the world, I have no hesitation in repeating the statement often made here, that all these emergency scares and all this German war talk are manufactured absolutely and solely by parties in England for the purpose of selling guns, building ships and spending money out of naval contracts."

Only 7 months before War Broke Out

SIR WILFRID LAURIER, January 10, 1914—

"I do not charge any intention of deceit on the part of the Prime Minister in this regard, but I will charge deceit if, in the face of this evidence, we again hear of such a thing as an emergency."

"The German peril has disappeared, if, indeed there ever was such a thing."

"We know now how much the country and the Empire and the civilized world has been deceived by that question of so-called emergency."

"The Bill which was brought in last session (the Naval Aid Bill) was not even a measure of emergency, although it was so called. They introduced it upon the shallow pretence of emergency. 'Emergency? Who speaks to-day of emergency? Twelve months have passed since my right hon. friend the Prime Minister introduced his measure. Twelve months and more have passed since that time when he saw the German peril. He saw Germany almost ready to turn at the throat of Great Britain. He saw clouds on the horizon rent by lightning, and rumbling of cannon. But my right hon. friend to-day may live in peace. The climate is moderate and the sky clear."

The wheat commanded by the Government for use of the Allies is now nearly all on the way, and the wheat market only shows a slight up and down tendency in favor of the farmer, which proves in the eyes of some people what an outrage it is.

Canadian hay has been added to the list of Canadian products upon which the Allies are to have first call. Every little while the Canadian government finds a new way of helping to fight Germany and uses it.

STILL GIBING

The Toronto Daily Star makes merry over Brigadier-Generals and Honorary Colonels. It made just as merry over private soldiers before the war began. A proposal to have a march of troops across country made The Star laugh until it was "physically unfit," says the Toronto News.

THE BOUNTY ON COYOTES

The Alberta Provincial Sheep Breeders' Association have taken up the matter of collecting evidence as to the destruction caused by coyotes to sheep breeders and owners of pigs and poultry.

Over one hundred owners who have suffered from the depredations of these pests have written to the Secretary, Mr. Stark, of Edmonton, and without exception all are agreed that the coyote is on the increase, and that something must be done to check the ravages of this animal unless breeders are to drop this very important department of the live stock industry.

From letters received by Mr. Stark it is learned that a large number have already been compelled to go out of this business, and as it is impossible for the Association to secure the names of all who have suffered loss, and thus write them direct, the Alberta Provincial Sheep Breeders' Association requests that any in this district who have lost sheep, pigs or poultry, or who know of such losses among his neighbors, will assist them by sending in the particulars to the Secretary, W. J. Stark, P.O. Box 216, Edmonton.

It is the intention of the Association, when they have secured sufficient evidence to make a strong "case" against the coyotes, to ask the Alberta Government to restore the bounty for the destruction of coyotes.

CLEARVIEW

The concert held in the Clearview School on Wednesday 22nd, turned out to be fine. Great credit is due Mrs. Michener for getting the concert ready in so short a time and in spite of all the sickness everyone thoroughly enjoyed the evening. Santa Claus visited all the school children, and a good many of the townships, and everyone went home well satisfied.

ALLIES' SUBMARINES HAVE CAPTURED HUN PLUNGER

Rome, Dec. 23.—The Allies' submarines have captured an Austrian submarine and are towing it to Malta, according to dispatches received here today.

If the Rome information is correct, it is the first time in history that a submarine has been captured by vessels of the same type.

Last Regular Council Meeting

The last regular session of the City Council for the year was held in the City Hall on Thursday evening, December 23rd, with Mayor Carswell in the chair, Aldermen Bottorill, Colton, Smith and Johns present. Greene & Payne, city solicitors, wrote in connection with collection of arrears of taxes, advising that the city be controlled and governed by the amendment noted by the Commissioners at the last special session of the Council. Filed.

W. J. Rappey, manager of the Bank of Montreal, requested that the city forward as soon as possible, plans for financing the city for next year, so that the matter might be taken up with his head office at once. The previous arrangement expires at the end of this month. Filed.

COMMISSIONERS' REPORT

The Commissioners brought in the following report:—The tender of Geo. Harvey for fire escape at Hospital was accepted. The tenders received were Geo. Harvey $135.00; Wm. Springbett $135.00. The intake has been cleared out and put in shape for winter. The Engineer R. G. Dawe recommends putting an iron grating over the inlet, to keep rocks away from the end of the intake pipe. This will cost about $30. The sewer outlet has been put in shape for the winter. The work of laying the water extension to the exhibition grounds, installing connections to the buildings and of building the mess room has been completed. We submit reports of Engineer Dawe on this work with statement of cost. We recommend that a by-law be submitted to the burgesses to raise the sum of $2500.00 repayable in ten years at 6 per cent to cover the cost of the work and provide for the painting of the building next Spring.

We submit herewith a by-law to lower certain lanes. We submit accounts for your authorization to pay. Moved by Ald. Smith, seconded by Ald. Bottorill, that the Commissioners' report be received and adopted with the exception that the amount of $2,500 in clause 4 be reduced to $1,000. Carried.

ACCOUNTS

The following accounts were passed: News Publishing Co., $15.00; City of Red Deer $17.15; Calgary Iron Works $4.62; D.B. Tailoring Co., $7.73; Broughton & Sons, $9.15; Western Printing Co., $16.75; Red Deer Curling Club $69.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

The agreement between the City, the Imperial Bank and R. G. Dawe, on behalf of the firm of Seymour & Dawe, as to the settlement of the latter's claim against the City, was again presented for the ratification of the Council. Ald. Bottorill doubted the wisdom of making the agreement without the knowledge that it was acceptable to the other members of the firm of Seymour & Dawe. After settlement had been made with Mr. Dawe they might also put in a claim placing the City in a somewhat serious predicament. The agreement was laid over until legal enlightenment has been obtained on this point. Clause 12 of the Commissioners' Report of December 9th, covering the striking off of the list of arrears, property and business taxes deemed uncollectable, was again brought up and adopted on the motion of Alderman Bottorill, seconded by Ald. Johns. The property taxes struck off were the result of error or misunderstanding in the assessment, and the business taxes were on businesses the owners of which had left the City before the taxes could be collected. By-law 411 covering the closing of the lanes behind the wholesale houses was given its first, second and third reading and finally passed. The Council adjourned at 10 p.m.

Ford Quits Peace Ark

Reported by Doctor's Orders

Copenhagen, via London, Dec. 23.—A dispatch from Christiania says H. Ford left Christiania secretly for Bergen, where he expected tonight to go aboard the Norwegian American line steamer Bergenhus in order to return to the United States. The dispatch reports that Mr. Ford's doctor had ordered him to rest his tired and over-worked nerves. The remainder of the expedition, ignorant of Mr. Ford's departure, left for Stockholm today, the dispatch says. "It is now reported that a physician advised Mr. Ford to stay in a sanatorium. Hence, it is probable that he has not gone to Bergen to sail for the United States, but to Gjøa, or Floro, intending to rejoin the peace mission when his health is restored."

WRECK OF THE 10:10

BY HAROLD CARTER.

It was a black evening in the office, remember, and a group of us were sitting chatting around a table, the table farthest from Dunning, the night editor, who had looked around rather anxiously once or twice. It was the conversation disturbed him. He was always busy enough; he was the kind of man who made work, alert, uncommunicative, though rather a talker, a shyness than owing to any unsympathetic quality.
Broad's finance was to arrive that evening on the 10:10 from Washington, and Broad, who had been celebrating in honor of the event, was telling us all the details of their recent quarrel and reconciliation. She had gone down to the capital to visit a sister, and they had parted without saying good-by for some cause. They were all, but Broad was telling it with a whole wealth of detail.
"Dunning is a Washington man too,"
said Broad, flourishing his hands expressively. "But he doesn't care. If he knew that I must get out tonight, likely as not he'd pick a special re-signment for me out of spite. But I don't bear him malice—poor old Dunning! I hear his wife and he fight like dogs and cats."
"Sh!" said some one; and just then a boy entered with a late edition of the "Planet," wet from the press, and handed it to Dunning. We saw him glance at it, then suddenly rivet his attention on the staring black letter that covered one-third of the front page. He looked round and his eyes searched our ranks.
"Mr. Broad," he said sharply, and then, changing his mind, he sat and hurried toward us. "Mr. Broad,
I want you to go out to Grayfield immediately. The 10:10 from Washing is wrecked outside the station.
Hurry, and telephone all the news.
And, may I try to get a list of the dead?"
"My God!" said Broad, and sank down into his seat. He buried his face in his hands and his shoulders shook convulsively. Somebody explained the situation in a few words.

"The 10:10 train from Washington to New York was ditched on the far side of Grayfield at 10:02," I wrote. "A broken rail is believed to have been the cause of the accident. The engine and the first three cars plunged down into the water, the remaining cars being thrown into the air, but not the passengers all escaped with minor injuries except one unidentified man, who was supposed to be a doctor.
Suddenly Dunning pitched over and fell to the ground. He had fainted.
Kemp ran to raise him, and, temporarily, he was taken to the telephone booth. I found myself glancing at the copy of the "Planet" in Dun-ning's hand. It was the same edition on the page facing me I read, among the list of the dead:
"Mrs. George Dunning of Washington."

Everyone come to the dance in the Parish Hall, Thursday, December 30, in aid of the Red Cross and general works for the soldiers under the auspices of the I.O.O.F.

Among the University students home from Christmas, we noticed Robert Hewson, Leo Brown, R. P.
Miller, Wallace Durance, and McPherson, son of Stuart McPherson.

The News was recipient of a box of choice Havanas from the Wright Hardware for Christmas, as the staff do not use the weed, the Editor is trying to do ample justice to the occasion.

The Admiral Craddock Chapter of the I.O.O.F. have issued invitations to the wives and children of the Red Deer soldiers to a tea and Christmas trees on December 29th, in the Parish Hall from 5.15 to 7.30.

Miss Hamby and Miss Dutton of the W. E. Lord Co. staff left for the east Christmas day. Miss Hamby will visit relatives at Oshawa, Ont., and Miss Dutton goes to Bowman's ville. We regret to hear that Miss Dutton will not return.

A fifty mile blizzard yesterday made one feel as though we were in for a spell of real winter weather. To many this will be pleasant change as the mild weather they claim is responsible for so many cases of La Grippe and colds. No doubt winter is here.

Begin the New Year Right by Paying Cash for Your Hardware

We firmly believe that the extensive Credit business is one of the chief causes of the High Cost of Living.

Every merchant running a Credit business has to add a percentage for bad accounts. By selling for Cash only, this will be eliminated; and no more will the man who pays Cash for his goods have to pay indirectly for the man who is slow pay, or never pays.

Next Monday, January 3rd, we will commence a strictly Cash Business, and we believe it will meet with your approval.

In November last we mailed a great many coupons, trusting one would reach every family. You no doubt received one.
If you did not, kindly let us know.

This coupon is good for 10% Discount on purchases (nails, wire and iron excepted) any one day in January.

The following are a few of the many articles on which 10 Per Cent will look good:
